Dear [Redacted]

News of your retirement after almost 38 years of FBIS service comes as a great disappointment to your colleagues at the bureau and the FBIS Analysis Group, which has benefitted over the years from your professionalism and dedication in compiling the Moscow commentary listings. I note that since joining FBIS at the old Mediterranean Bureau as a teletype operator in 1950 you have shown great flexibility in rising through the ranks to your current senior editorial assistant position. You can take great pride in both your personal achievements and in your contribution to the overall FBIS effort, looking on retirement as a well-earned period of rest.

I join your colleagues at the bureau and the many FBISers who have served with you over the years at the Mediterranean Bureau and London Bureau in wishing you a happy and healthy retirement.

Sincerely,
